We’re the world’s largest beverage company with the world’s most recognized brand.
And yet we’re truly a local business.

300 independent bottling partners

900 manufacturing facilities in more than 200 countries

3,000 beverage products

1.6 billion servings per day

We make beverages and distribute them to the communities we are a part of versus an export market.
Without a healthy ecosystems and healthy and sustainable communities, there is no healthy business.

We must and do take actions to protect resources we share and support the sustainability of the communities we serve.
To date, we have more than 250 community water programs in 70+ countries. These include programs that support:

- Access to water and sanitation
- Education and awareness
- Water for productive use
- Watershed protection
